Review

for the educational-professional program Medicine of the second (Master's) level of higher education in the specialty 222 Medicine in the field of knowledge 22 Health at Poltava State Medical University

The educational-professional program Medicine was presented for the review, which was developed by the team of authors-teachers of the university with significant practical experience and professional expertise in training the physicians for practical medicine not only in Ukraine but also in many other countries.

The presented program contains complete information on the scope and content of training in Medicine. The program consistently and logically lists the mandatory and elective subjects, the study of which throughout the period of study at the university allows higher education students to master the necessary competencies for the activity of a physician.

In addition to the purely professional competencies of the educational and professional program in the form of knowledge, skills and practical abilities, it is important, in our opinion, to pay attention to general competencies related to the moral and ethical aspects of medical practice.

The analysis of the program allows us to conclude that it provides for the acquisition of the necessary amount of both theoretical and practical training of future physicians. The range of issues studied according to the educational-professional program corresponds to the state-of-the-art achievements of medical science, and in our opinion, allows foreign students to successfully pass qualification exams in any specialty in their countries.

Implementation of the educational-professional program Medicine of the second (Master's) level of higher education in the specialty 222 Medicine in the field of knowledge 22 Health at Poltava State Medical University provides with training of educated competitive physicians of the international level.
